Partial Resumption of British Industry Seen

LONDON, Feb. 14—The British cabinet's emergency fuel committee reportedly decided tentatively today on a partial switch-on of electricity to industry as the arrival of coal-laden ships and trains eased the situation a bit.

It was understood the cabinet group made plans to restart industry with 50 per cent normal power consumption probably within a week if the weather improves.

The ban on domestic electricity consumption, however, is unlikely to be lifted for at least three weeks.

Sixty-three coal ships reached the Thames in the past 30 hours and unloaded 100,000 tons of fuel. Additional supplies arrived from the mine fields by train.

Despite the progress in overcoming the fuel shortage, the British railroads further slashed suburban and main line train services.

The emergency committee, meeting with Prime Minister Clement R. Attlee, also considered plans to cope with the aftermath of the crisis.

Informed observers believed that despite the turn of the tide, a drastic cut in gas supplies to

ONE MAN'S OPINION

By Walter Kierman

U. N. hall (skiing instructions daily) delegates are waiting for the Palestine problem to be delivered—they've about run out of conversation on the atom, Franco and Greece.

The feeling is that if Britain can't solve the Palestine problem it belongs at the U. N. where no problem ever is solved.

In November the U. N. phoned Spain "Franco must go," then hung up—that squared the Spanish problem like one call to the landlord reduces the rent.

It is true that Britain has not been able to satisfy the two contestants in Palestine—just throw it this way and you'll see some real non-satisfaction of anybody.

The American will say, cautiously, "we stand for the right." The Briton will say, "I shall have to consult my government," and the Russian will say "no."

The little countries will sit demurely on their hands as usual—hoping not to excite any of the big ones.

After six months the U. N. will come to a decision—"Palestine must go!"

STRIKES STOP PARIS ACTIVITY

French Workers Walk Out To Protest Government's Wage Policy

PARIS, Feb. 14—A paralyzing blow was struck against France today by workers who abandoned their jobs to hold protest demonstrations demanding higher wages.

The strikes, believed largely inspired by Communists, were principally against Premier Paul Ramadier's "hold the line" policy on wages. The premier's first thought is to reduce prices instead of raising wages.

Protest meetings to be held throughout France this afternoon will demand wage increases in face of the government's insistence that prices cannot be held down if wages go up.

The stoppage will hold all Paris subways and buses for one hour and close government offices for one hour.

It will open the doors of all schools for a half holiday as teachers join in the protest.

Paris morning newspapers did not appear, with the exception of the Communist L'Humanite. (Continued on Page Two)

BRITAIN REJECTS TRUMAN'S OFFER OF U. S. HELP

LONDON, Feb. 14—The British government turned down today President Truman's offer to assist the United Kingdom in its severe coal crisis and buckled down to weathering the storm on its own.

Prime Minister Clement R. Attlee sent a cordial message to President Truman thanking him for his willingness to do whatever was in America's power to aid.

But it was emphasized that Britain had not asked for diversion to British ports of American coal ships en route to any other countries. Eaton Griffith, chairman of the European coal organization, said that even any temporary diversion of this sort would place the countries of continental Europe in a "critical situation."

The party, according to Earl Benninghoff, company vice-president and treasurer, was the mass picketing of the neighboring Cleveland Frog and Crossing company where a strike is in progress.

FARM MACHINE LOCAL ACCUSED OF BEING 'RED'

Allis-Chalmers Official Has Evidence To Prove Claim, Senate Group Told

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14—An official of the strike-fettered Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing company charged with documented evidence today that one of its local UAW-CIO unions is Communist-led and Communist-dominated.

The accusation was made before the senate labor committee by Harold W. Story, vice-president of the company, against local 248 UAW-CIO, at West Allis, Wis. The Allis-Chalmers plant at West Allis has been on strike since last Spring.

Story submitted a 2½-inch-thick brief containing photographic and written evidence in support of his charge that:

DeMille Gives Views

His testimony followed that of Cecil B. DeMille, Hollywood producer, who asked congress to give American workers "second emancipation proclamation" by abolishing the closed shop. DeMille was ruled off the radio because he refused to pay his union a $1 political assessment.

Story called on congress to develop a "legislative weed killer" to "nullify the destructive effects of communistic union leaderships without harming the grass of sound unionism."

Story defined his meaning of "communistic leadership" as "not only leaderships composed of Communists, but also those

LANE'S RECALL IS NOT BREAK WITH POLAND

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14—Secretary of State Marshall said today that the recall of Arthur Bliss Lane, ambassador to Poland, "does not mean rupture of relations" with Poland.

But Marshall declined to comment to reporters on whether Lane will return to Warsaw.

The last official word on the subject was that Lane was returning home for "consultation" and to give a first-hand report on the conduct of the Jan. 19 Polish elections.

The elections were protested in advance by both United States and Britain as illegal and in violation of the Potsdam agreement whereby the Polish regime won diplomatic recognition from the western powers.

However, reports from Warsaw asserted that Lane, who will leave on Feb. 24, is being permanently recalled and will not return to his post.

65 FIRED FOR ATTENDING VALENTINE DAY PARTY

CLEVELAND, Feb. 14—The pipe machinery company of Cleveland today discharged 65 employees who took two hours off to attend a "Valentine day party."

The party, according to Earl Benninghoff, company vice-president and treasurer, was the mass picketing of the neighboring Cleveland Frog and Crossing company where a strike is in progress.

Conscience Wins; Admits Murders

BECAUSE TWO MURDERS were preying on his mind, Frank F. Hertle, 28-year-old former truck driver, voluntarily walked into Akron, O., police headquarters and gave Capt. 6,000 HARD COAL MINERS STRIKE, BACK 'SIT DOWN'

LANSFORD, PA., Feb. 14—Six thousand hard coal miners struck today in support of 13 fellow workers staging a sitdown strike 800 feet below the earth's surface at a Lansford colliery.

The sitdowners refused to leave the mine in a dispute over "docking" of their pay for quitting work early.

Officials of the Lehigh Coal and Navigation company, operators of the mine, said none of the miners reported to work this morning.

A jury on Feb. 5 found Diltz guilty of looting the parked automobile of Vaden Couch of personal property valued at $285.40. The motion for a new trial, filed Feb. 8, alleges that one of the seven women serving on the jury discussed the case with Deputy Sheriff Carl Radcliff prior to the three-day trial.

Meanwhile, deep in the mine, the determined 13 sitdowners sent up a communiqué declaring that "we're going to stick around a while."

SURVEY SHOWS GOP IS SPLIT ON LILIENTHAL

Taft And Vandenberg May Clash Over Confirming Atomic Chairman

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14—An International News Service survey today showed the senate Republican majority split wide open on the issue of confirming David E. Lilienthal as the nation's atomic chief.

The survey indicated that Lilienthal's chances were in a dangerous spot.

As of today, he had a tentative margin of at least five votes, and possibly a dozen or so.

However, his margin still had to withstand the impact of mounting and determined opposition by a portion of the party's high command.

A colleague of Sen. Taft (R) Ohio, said he was "positive" that the powerful GOP policy committee chairman will throw his weight against Lilienthal in a public statement today or tomorrow.

Such a move by Taft might bring a showdown between him and Sen. Vandenberg (R) Mich., senate president, on which swings the greatest power among the Republican majority.

Both foes and friends of Lilienthal have been counting Vandenberg as a supporter of the appointment. Vandenberg, an atomic committee member, has been silent.

The INS survey, from interviews and preliminary polls by leaders in the fight, showed rank-and-file senate Republican sentiment evenly divided as Majority Leader White (R) Me., is

COURT UPHOLDS SUGAR RULING

Appeals Judges Approve Decision Which May End Rationing

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14—The U. S. court of appeals for the District of Columbia affirmed today lower court decision which rationing officials say may cancel out the entire sugar rationing program.

The decision was written by Judge E. Barrett Prettyman. Judge Wilbur K. Miller concurred and Judge Henry W. Edgerton dissented.

The original decision was rendered by U. S. District Judge F. Dickinson Letts in a suit brought by the Moberly Milk Products company, of Moberly, Mo., against ration administrators.

Judge Letts held that the war mobilization and reconversion act prohibits the "historic use" basis in administering the sugar rationing program.

Ration officials contend that the "historic use" system is the only satisfactory way to ration industrial sugar. They also contend that without an industrial sugar rationing program, the domestic program will collapse.

DILTZ NEW TRIAL MOTION HEARING SLATED TUESDAY

Hearing of the new trial motion of Orin Diltz, 24, Route 2, Circleville, convicted of grand larceny, will be held at 10 a. m. Tuesday, it was announced Friday by Common Pleas Judge William D. Radcliff.

A jury on Feb. 5 found Diltz guilty of looting the parked automobile of Vaden Couch of personal property valued at $285.40. The motion for a new trial, filed Feb. 8, alleges that one of the seven women serving on the jury discussed the case with Deputy Sheriff Carl Radcliff prior to the three-day trial.

SOLONS RETAIN RIGHT TO CUT TRUMAN BUDGET

Compromise Proposal For Trimming Truman's Figures Studied

REPORTERS EXCLUDED

Congress Committee Votes To Keep Sessions On Budget Closed

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14—The congressional budget committee today overwhelmingly rejected a proposal which would have precluded any cut in the Army and Navy budget.

The motion was made by Rep. Dingell (R) Mich. His proposal would have reversed the decision of the 20-member sub-committee.

This group recommended that President Truman's estimate for the Army be cut $1,500,000,000 and that the Navy budget be slashed $750,000,000.

Thomas urged "keeping the atomic bomb a deep brown secret" as Secretary of State George C. Marshall was called before the senate foreign relations committee to outline his attitude on world affairs, including relations with the Soviet.

The Oklahoma Democrat asserted that the small nations of the world should want the United States to keep the A-bomb as their best protection against aggressors.

Thomas at the same time advocated a military figure such as Marshall or Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, Army chief of staff, as the party's presidential candidate if President Truman should withdraw.

The senator said he didn't care if they "are the rankest Republicans."

He added that there is no partisan issue—that the nation's major question is retaining its place in the world.

Such a move by Taft might bring a showdown between him and Sen. Vandenberg (R) Mich., senate president, on which swings the greatest power among the Republican majority.

The secretary, an old hand at testifying before congressional committees, faced a generally friendly group but he was expected to run the entire gamut of world affairs.

And he charged: "Every officer of local 248 is a member of the Communist party or a consistent party liner. So also are a large percentage of the stewards and shop committee men."

Story explained that all eight Allis-Chalmers plants, except one on the west coast, went on strike in 1946, and added:

"At the present time, all strikes have been settled at the various plants except the strike at the West Allis works, which was called by the communistic leadership of local 248."

Over 4,500 employees are working now at the one struck plant, the witness reported.

He charged that "Communist cells" have been established in the West Allis shop, that local 248 has promoted attendance at Communist schools, shown "Communist films at its meetings," reprinted material from Communist publications and that a "vast majority" of speakers at union meetings "have been Communists."

Closed Shop Powerful

DeMille told the senate labor committee that a closed shop union "is in a sense more powerful than government itself."

The veteran motion picture director-producer charged that the closed shop is monopolistic, undemocratic and a threat to constitutional rights. He said:

"Abolition of the closed shop will be pro-labor legislation—if by labor we mean the man who does the work. It will free him from a servitude unparalleled in American history since the abolition of slavery."

FIELDS IS FINED $250 AND JAILED FOR CONTEMPT

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14—Benjamin F. Fields, Washington public relations counsel, today was fined $250 and sentenced to 90 days in jail for contempt of congress.

Federal Judge Alexander Holtzoff imposed the sentence, which grew out of Fields' refusal to answer questions before a congressional committee investigating surplus property disposal.

Fields, an ex-convict who boasts swank offices and reportedly "important" contacts in Washington, was asserted to have obtained a quantity of surplus copper wire through government "connections".

Defense attorneys announced they would appeal.

JAMES JORDAN BURGLARY TRIAL JURORS ISSUED SET FOR FEB. 24

Jury trial of James Jordan, 30, Portsmouth, for his alleged part in the burglary of the James D. Butts general store at Fox, is scheduled to begin at 9 a. m. Feb. 24 in Pickaway county common pleas court.

Three men who broke into the store at 3 a. m. Sept. 5, 1946, carried away a 500-pound safe containing $200, along with other loot. The safe was smashed open in a nearby field. Within 24 hours sheriff's deputies arrested Walter Leo Roberts, 29, and Wilbur Jeffords, 37, both of Portsmouth, but the third man escaped.

The grand jury indicted Roberts, Jeffords and Jordan. Roberts and Jeffords pleaded guilty before Judge Emmett L. Crist and each was sentenced to one to 15 years in the Ohio Penitentiary.

Two weeks ago Jordan was nabbed at Mount Clemens, Mich. He waived extradition and was transferred to the county jail in Circleville.

The ship's radio operator messaged early today that he had to "close down because of water in the oil," indicating a possibility that fire had broken out in the engine room.

COUNCIL SLATED TO OPEN STUDY OF ATOMIC PLAN

Russia Expected To Ask UN Group To Adopt Soviet Arms Formula

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Feb. 14—The United Nations security council was to initiate deliberations today on international means of controlling and safeguarding atomic energy.

At the same time Andrei Gromyko, Russian delegate will ask the council to adopt the Soviet formula. This formula includes destruction and outlawing of all atom bombs as the first step and before any system of control or inspection is established.

Detailed presentation of the first report of the atomic energy commission to the council was to be made at a session at 3 p.m. today to launch consideration of the crucial question of establishing an international control agency to prevent the production of atomic weapons for war.

The report which is expected to produce another clash of opinion between Soviet Russia and the United States at the council table was introduced at Thursday's session when Canada, as a vitally concerned nation, was invited to participate in the ensuing discussion.

The 90-page report of the commission contains preliminary recommendations for establishing a world control agency which embody most of the basic principles of the Baruch plan advocated by the United States.

They emphasize the importance of first creating an agency endowed with extensive powers of investigation and force before relying solely upon an international treaty to destroy existing atomic weapons and prohibit their manufacture in the future.

Russia, advocating a treaty calling for immediate destruction of atomic weapon stockpiles, has, along with Poland, entered reservations concerning the commission report and is expected to argue strenuously for revision of the report's recommendations.

The Soviet and Polish spokesmen also are expected to attack the conception of the veto proposed by the commission. The report points out in its introductory paragraphs that the commission was unable to attain agreement on its recommendation that the right of veto on the security council concerning the control agency's work shall not be allowed.

MORE ICE-FREE LAKES MAY BE FOUND AT POLE

Discovery Of 'Shangri-La' Opens Wide Possibility Geologist States

ABOARD MOUNT OLYMPUS IN ANTARCTIC, Feb. 13—(Delayed)—Discovery of a land of lakes in inland Antarctica opens the wide possibility that other and larger such areas may exist elsewhere on the south polar continent, Dr. Arthur Howard of the United States geological survey said today.

The geologist said the lake region — found this week in the Knox coast vicinity and dubbed "Shangri-La" — might owe its existence to an underlying mass of hot rock. He said the region might be somewhat like Yellow stone park, where heat for geysers and hot springs is believed to come from such a rock mass.

Official dispatches of the U. S. Navy's Antarctic expedition said that a mariner sea plane from the western task group landed Thursday local time — Wednesday Eastern Standard time — on one of the new found lakes and the crew took a sample of the water reported "definitely warmer" than elsewhere.

The crewmen, under Lt. Cmdr. David E. Bunker of Coronado, Cal., noted what seemed ore-bearing rocks on the ground and a few birds overhead. Ice rimmed the region, but none was seen on the lake.

Howard said it was not especially significant that the Mariner crew saw no steam, because hot springs or fumaroles — steaming holes in the ground — might not be visible at that particular point or from high in the air. The lakes also might freeze over during the Winter like the Yellow stone lakes or remain open the year around if the heat supply was sufficient.

He added that the south polar continent still was caught in the

MURRAY KEEPS SILENT ABOUT UNION MERGER

Top CIO Leaders To Talk Over Plan To Join AFL In Biggest Union

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 14—President Philip Murray declined today to consider the proposed CIO-AFL merger into the world's largest labor federation until after next week's Washington powwow with his top advisers.

A spokesman for the labor chieftain said Murray was meeting with the CIO vice presidents in the nation's capital Monday and later with the CIO executive board to explore the advisability of consolidating the two labor bodies.

The spokesman pointed out that the Washington conference was merely exploratory, adding that a merger was very, very far in the offing. He added:

"The CIO is a vertical union—embodying the masses, while the AFL is a craft union. To merge the two at this time would create chaos and many CIO members would be without union support—that is, the AFL dominates the new setup."

Labor leaders, however, said the AFL has agreed, in the event of a consolidation, that none of the present CIO unions will be broken up for at least 20 years.

Both AFL and CIO officials have refrained from public expression but are unanimous in the off-the-record talks that an early merger was impossible.

Murray himself remained silent, but a source close to the CIO chieftain said the main stumbling block to blending the two unions was held by both AFL and CIO leaders to be the question of agreeing on a craft vs. industrial form of organization.

It is generally known that Dan Tobin, president of the AFL teamsters union, and big Bill Hutchinson, of the carpenters union, bitterly oppose the merger. At present Tobin's teamsters are waging a jurisdictional fight with the CIO brewery workers in Pittsburgh. It has been in progress for 131 days.

Another sore spot in the proposed merger is the six-year-old feud between John L. Lewis of the United Mine Workers and Murray. CIO officials say that Murray is too familiar with Lewis' technique and before a merger is effected the CIO chieftain would demand some guarantee, in writing, to keep Lewis in line. This, they pointed out, would be almost impossible.

A SHORT STORY ABOUT . . .

GAS EMERGENCIES

- Their Causes—
- What We Are Doing—
- The Future Outlook—

(Reading time—5 minutes, 35 seconds)

In the recent gas emergencies the cooperation of our domestic, commercial and industrial customers has been magnificent. Certainly not to be overlooked are the sacrifices of employees whose work was interrupted as a result of industrial curtailment of gas. Another group who put their shoulders to the wheel to reduce the severity of the situation are the newspapers, radio stations and government officials.

Since the end of the war we've tried to inform our customers of the gas situation as well as we could without getting into subjects of too highly a technical nature. But conditions change and, because of the direct results which you experienced in the emergencies, we feel a duty to explain the whole situation, even at the risk of repeating ourselves.

The Cause of Emergencies Terrific Demand for Gas

At the conclusion of the war we found ourselves in the same position as almost every industry. There was a pent-up demand for more gas without the immediate facilities for making it available to our customers. You who wanted automobiles, white shirts and a long list of other products were told by the merchants with whom you deal that you would have to wait until these products were available. The problem was not so simple for a gas company. Being a public utility we do not have direct control of the amount of our product which our customers use. There is, however, a provision in a long-standing ruling of the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio that industrial users be curtailed if necessary to maintain domestic service.

UNDERGROUND STORAGE

Realizing that more and more of Ohio's future gas supply would come through long lines from out of the state, The Ohio Fuel Gas Company started developing underground storage in 1936. Gas is brought into the state in warm weather and forced back into the ground for use when weather is cold. Thus, large quantities of gas become available near our markets where it can be drawn upon quickly when needed. In the late fall of 1946 we had 24 billion cubic feet of gas in underground storage capable of delivering some 180 million cubic feet a day. At present we have some 19½ billion in storage with delivery of about 100 million cubic feet a day. Thus it can be seen that as the volume of storage gas declines, the ability of the storage fields to deliver it declines due to falling pressure. A large portion of storage gas always is left in the ground as a spring to get the other gas out quickly. Plans for next summer call for storing 42 billion cubic feet of gas to give still greater capacity of delivery.

able to provide enough stand-by fuel to operate for more than a short time.

When we and other companies that supply a major portion of our gas from outside the state attempted to buy pipe, compressors and other facilities necessary for transporting additional quantities of gas to our customers, the same answers were given that you received when you attempted to buy a scarce item. The hundreds of thousands of tons of steel which were needed just weren't available. The coal and steel strikes of 1946 made the situation more critical. Some orders placed for steel last year are not promised for delivery until 1948 at the earliest.

The threat in continued supply of solid fuel and its increase in price were perhaps the leading factors that caused many thousands of our customers who formerly used gas in small quantities to change their heating plants to burn gas. In the late summer we made a survey of heating plants and by early fall definite steps were taken to stop customers having other fuels from changing to gas heat.

What We Are Doing

Realizing last summer that other companies which supply us with gas as well as ourselves were failing to secure the increased facilities to transport gas, we started taking steps to tide us over until more gas could be brought to our area.

Construction was started on two propane plants near Toledo and Mt. Sterling to make additional quantities of gas available for short periods when it would be needed most. This program, too, has been disappointing because of the shortage of railroad tank cars of the right type needed to transport the propane from the refineries to our two plants. So many of these cars are tied up in Again, our sincere thanks for your cooperation.

THE OHIO FUEL Gas Company

Industry Has Been Very Cooperative

Last year we approached the leading industries we serve asking them to install equipment for using substitute fuels when there was not enough gas. Their cooperation was excellent but few were able to provide enough stand-by fuel to operate for more than a short time.

During emergencies resulting from extremely cold weather, we operated our system with pressures far below adequate and yet only a few domestic customers had disruptions in service. With a demand approaching 550,000,000 cubic feet a day, we were able to supply approximately 470,000. You can see why utmost curtailment was necessary—why the Federal Power Commission, the Public Utilities Commission and the Governor were appealing for the conservation of gas. Also, they were assisting in obtaining all of the gas for us that could possibly be given up by other companies. Other towns and cities in Ohio and neighboring states were in the same situation as this community. As one company would give the alarm that it was going out of gas, other companies who could, would try to help it.

The Future Outlook

There are enough known natural gas reserves in the country today to last some 45 years at the present rate of consumption and more are being discovered. Few of our nation's leading natural resources can show such a favorable long range picture. We wish that we could tell you at once the exact possibilities for increasing the transmission facilities for gas before another winter. The Panhandle and Eastern Pipeline Company, The Tennessee Gas Transmission Corporation and The United Fuel Gas Company who supply us gas from out of the state all have plans for great expansion. We will spend toward a $30,000,000 expansion project as fast as we can. It is probable that the "Inch" lines will become permanent for transmission of natural gas. By adding suitable compressors to them, their capacity can be multiplied several times. As soon as we can give you more definite word for the future we certainly will do it.

JUNIORS STEAL SPOTLIGHT IN TOURNEY PLAY

Monroe Cops Grade Title; Perry And Monroe Win Senior Games Easily

Two grade school teams stole the show Thursday night at the second session of the Pickaway county basketball tournament in Roll and Bowl.

Monroe won the county junior high championship in what was billed as a preliminary to the senior tournament, but turned out to be the only exciting game of the evening.

A basket with seconds to go gave Monroe a 23-22 victory over Pickaway in a game that was close all the way.

In senior tournament games Atlanta walked over Walnut 52-22 and Monroe eliminated Washington 51-28.

Monroe took a 5-1 first period lead in the opener and was on top 11-6 at the half. In the third quarter Pickaway rallied to tie the score at 13-13.

As the last quarter started Crabtree gave Pickaway a 15-13 edge. Riley and Brigner sank foul shots to tie the score again and Sanders gave Monroe a 17-15 margin at the halfway mark. Rhoads knotted the count but Sanders got another two-pointer. McAfee connected, then Rhoads put Pickaway ahead 22-19 with a basket and foul. Riley got a basket then Brigner came through with the game-winning two-pointer.

Riley had nine points for the winner and Rhoads nine for Pickaway.

Perry took a 5-0 lead over Walnut before Bob Pontius scored the first Walnut basket with five minutes of the first quarter gone. When the period ended Atlanta led 8-5. Pontius cut the margin to 8-7 as the second quarter started but by halftime Perry was on top 23-13.

In the third quarter Walnut got one point, a foul shot by John Brinker with 30 seconds left in the period, while Perry collected 16 to run the score to 39-14.

Joe Drake, high scorer in the league, collected 27 points to lead both teams. Joe Hobble scored 14 and Pontius got 12 for Walnut.

Monroe took a 15-1 first quarter lead on Washington and was on top 26-7 at the half. The third period score was 34-12. In the last quarter Washington rallied for 14 points but Monroe got 17.

Jack Hix had 16 and Kenneth Reid 15 for Monroe. Dick Seiner and Bob Fetheroff had seven points each for Washington.

Perry's victory makes the team the first opponent of seeded Saltcreek. They play at 7:30 p. m. Monday. Monroe will be Ashville's first opponent, the game to be played at 8:45 p. m. Monday.

Saturday night Jackson meets Deer Creek at 7:30 while Scioto gives New Holland its first tournament test at 8:45.

FINAL FIGURES ON COUNTY CAGE LOOP RELEASED

Williamsport Outscores New Holland; Drake Takes Individual Honors

Final figures on the 1946-47 Pickaway county basketball league were released Thursday by Bob Toole, who keeps statistics because he likes to "figger".

In making his final statement, Bob calls attention to the fact that his figures are unofficial and hopes that no one is displeased with them. He admits there may be some errors, but he has spent hours checking them and has come up with the following statistics:

New Holland, in posting an undefeated record to cop the league title, scored 516 points and let opponents have 229. This gives the Bulldogs a 47 point per game average while their opponents were scoring 21.

Williamsport outscored the county league champs by three points but allowed opponents' 282, or almost 26 points per game. Ashville, tied with Williamsport for second, scored 489 points and let opponents get 310.

New Holland and Scioto reserves finished in a tie for first place in the county with 10 victories and one defeat each. Ashville was third with a 9-2 record.

Joe Drake won the individual scoring race with 203 points. Jimmy Picklesimer of Williamsport was second with 160. Jack Hix of Monroe had 158 for third place while the New Holland scoring aces, Jim McCown and Jack Doyle, took fourth and fifth with 147 and 138 respectively.

NEW HEAD, NEW HOME

THIS MAN George C. Marshall, one time general, now Secretary of State, is doing things. One of the startling items is moving the department out of its ornate neo-classic building next to the White House where it has been housed for 70 years. The huge, costly building has been ridiculed and venerated in its day.

Secretary Marshall is moving his new effects and personnel to a massive limestone structure built in 1941 for the War Department at less than half the cost of the older one. When the secretary was Gen.
Marshall and chief of staff, his office was briefly in this building until the army overflowed to the immense Pentagon. The new home of the State Department, because of its original purpose, has a warlike atmosphere with a large mural of guns, gas masks, bombs and the like guarding the entrance foyer.

There has been much hue and cry and nostalgic harking back to the old building on the part of many Washingtonians and some career foreign-service people. But a new Secretary of State has been appointed.
Old organizations have to realize that new heads have new ideas. Possibly the new building with its bristling military air is symptomatic of a new policy of strength and firmness. Anyway, it's where Secretary Marshall wants the state department to be housed and he's the new boss. New wine needs new bottles and a fresh wind blowing through the State Department has been needed for some time.

CONFEDERATE DAUGHTER

WHEN ONE is old, and sometimes when one is young, it is "pleasanter to sit in a rocking chair in a sunny living room" than to go forth and fight for right. The other day a little lady who must be old—she is the widow of Confederate Gen. James H.
Longstreet—left her rocking chair and her sunny living room, reluctantly, she admitted.
She went to her state capital, Atlanta, Ga., to speak against the white supremacy bill. Already it had passed the House. But this effort to disfranchise Negroes was not yet a law.

"I come before you almost at the end of life's long trail, with words of hope and encouragement for the colored people," said this member of the Daughters of the Confederacy. She added that such a law would "establish a dictator at whose whim countless white men and women could be barred" from the polls.

The old lady hit on the nub of all discriminating legislation. Once the principle is admitted that restrictive measures can be taken against one class of people, other groups likewise can be legislated against.
The Germans, who started out to penalize the Jews, found they themselves often became victims of the same distorted policies. There is no longer a place in the world for such a thing as freedom for the few.
The old lady from Georgia knew it, and thought it important enough to take her out of her rocking chair.

We're always jibing about Congress, when it's probably more intelligent and patriotic than the rest of us.

ASSIGNMENT: AMERICA

By Kenneth L. Dixon

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14 — It's strange.
The rest of the reporters all say I just fell asleep, right in the middle of the committee hearing. They say I couldn't possibly know who the congressmen questioned or what happened—that I was just dreaming.

But it all seems perfectly clear to me.
Particularly that one witness. I remember exactly how he looked.

Tall, gaunt and tired-looking, he had been appointed for some government job.
His beard was scraggly, and as he sat there in that old unpressed suit with that shawl around his shoulders, he looked out of place—ill at ease.

Sometimes he rested his elbows wearily on his bony knees during the questioning.
He'd held a federal job before, and it seemed his patriotism was in doubt.

"Is it true, sir," asked a senator softly,
"that even at the age of 25, you made speeches against the constitution?"

The lines deepened in the long face, but the angular shoulders stiffened perceptibly. Finally, the homely, heavy lips parted in mumbled response.

"No, sir," he said slowly. "I didn't speak against the constitution. I only disagreed with those who said that certain states had a sacred right, under the constitution, to give property owners the power of life and death over human beings who worked for them."

"Yes, yes, I understand," the senator nodded briskly, "but the truth is that your point of view was contrary to the constitutional beliefs of most recognized authorities, was it not?"

The tall man's shoulders sagged, then straightened.

"Yes," he said, "but later—"

"We are not," interrupted the senator,
"interested in what happened later. Gentlemen, I believe it is clear that this political appointee was both arbitrary and revolutionary in his opposition to recognized constitutional opinions."

The witness started to speak, but another solon broke in.

"Just a minute, sir!" he said sternly.
"Is it not true that at one time, when members of the United States government were disagreeing over a fundamental political issue, you said that 'a house divided against itself cannot stand'?"

The gaunt man nodded slowly, sadly. The scarf slid forward.

"Gentlemen," said the second senator inexorably, "it seems perfectly clear that, simply because congress was not unanimous in supporting his personal political beliefs, this man felt free to criticize the democratic processes of our government and threaten its collapse! Such opinions, openly voiced by an important official, certainly would undermine our American democracy today!"

With a triumphant gesture, he took off his glasses and settled back in his chair.
There was a moment's silence, while the tall man in the suit of ancient black peered in weary puzzlement at face after face around the committee.

Then the storm of damning questions broke:

"When questioned about your political beliefs, did you not once stress that 'if you make a bad bargain, you should hug it all the tighter'?"

"Did you not once publicly express doubt, in a speech at Gettysburg, Pennsylvania, as to whether any democratic government such as ours could 'long endure'?"

"Did you not dictatorially order all slaves freed—long before it became a law
—thus demonstrating your personal scorn for the democratic processes of American government?"

On and on went the barrage of accusa-

PLAY BACKS UP BIDDING

IF A PLAYER is going to "cut dodges" in the bidding in a strained effort to pull out some top scores in a duplicate tournament, he usually must be prepared to back it up with good work in the play. Sometimes just plain good work is not enough.
Fancy work may be necessary,
based partly on the kind of opponents against him at the time.
If he knows one of them as a trickster who hates to do the orthodox thing if he can find something unusual to try, he must be a little that way himself.

North sprang the fancy opening lead of the diamond 9, and West put on his deep-thinking cap.
That could hardly be a natural short-suit lead, he decided, since South who never made
"short club" openings, had shown nine black cards. He decided therefore to play South for the diamond K, possibly singleton, so came up with the dummy's A.
When that dropped the K, he got a total of five tricks in diamonds, four in hearts and one each in the black suits, for a large top score.
If he had finessed the diamond,
he would have lost a trick there,
three in spades and one in hearts, and would not even have made his contract.

Just follow West's cogitations as that bidding developed. When East came in at the level of two with his hearts, after both opponents had bid and with himself vulnerable, West placed him with a pretty useful hand. Notice then how South made a free raise of the spades. West, with good plug-gers in his four-card lengths of both hostile black suits, saw a chance to play.

RATHBONE ALLEN GUEST

Basil Rathbone, wily sleuth of screen and radio, may conduct a special search in Allen's Alley when he is Fred Allen's guest on Sunday. Alley regulars "Senator Claghorn" (Kenny Delmar), "Mrs. Nussbaum" (Minerva Pious), "Titus Moody" (Parker Fennelly), and "Ajax Cassidy" (Peter Donald) are the candidates for investigation.

It seems that "Kilroy" has been murdered and Basil Rathbone, "Inspector Burke" of Scotland Yard, will visit Allen's Alley to look for clues to the murderer's identity. It is rumored that he suspects Fred Allen is the Landlord of Allen's Alley.

IN UNUSUAL ROLE

Ann Todd, British screen actress, will fill one of the most unusual roles ever to be presented over the air when she plays the part of a mute in the world radio premiere of the film hit, "The Spiral Staircase" on "This Is Hollywood" Saturday. This broadcast is of especial interest since it hasn't been revealed just how Miss Todd will enact a mute via radio. George Brent will co-star with the British actress on this broadcast, recreating the role he portrayed in the movie version.

PEERCE GUESTS

Selections from "The Chocolate Soldier," 77-year-old Oscar Strauss' popular operetta, will be highlighted by Metropolitan Opera tenor Jan Peerce when the guest stars on the "Treasure Hour of Song" broadcast Thursday.

Strauss, whose operetta is being revived on the Broadway stage this month, will lead the orchestra. In addition to the operetta selections, Peerce will be heard in several operatic solos, and in a closing duet with Soprano Dorothy Kirsten, who is also appearing on the broadcast.

YOUTHS GET TICKETS

Studio audience tickets for the eastern "Blondie" broadcast, originating in Hollywood at 4:30 p.m., p. s. t., will continue indefinitely to be earmarked for the 12-year and slightly older youngsters. First test of the youthful audience, made Feb. 2, was a distinct success, according to Producer Don Bernard.

WRITER UNDER KNIFE

Ted Hediger, writer of the hard-boiled "I Deal in Crime" scripts, was rushed to a Los Angeles hospital this week with a ruptured appendix, only three days after he returned from a flying trip to Switzerland. An emergency operation was performed and Hediger is now out of danger, according to his physician.

The comedy team of Bob Sweeney and Hal March will be Vaughn Monroe's guests on his musical-variety show over Saturday night, Feb. 22. The comedians, who have their own show on Monday nights, are a big click on the west coast. They are preparing a special skit for their appearance with the singing maestro. A second guest act is yet to be set for Monroe's Washington's Birthday show.

"A Date With Judy" may be seen soon in the funnies! Several comic book publishers are negotiating with Aileen Leslie, "Judy" show owner and writer, for the rights. "Judy" already is on the stage and radio, and is in process of being made into a motion picture by M-G-M.

The Dagwood Bumsteads, heard Sundays on the "Blondie" show, have been named honorary chief bottle collectors by the milk and beverage industries, who are staging a national "Bottle Roundup" to get their old bottles back because of an acute shortage.

Sammy Kaye, of "Sunday Serenade," is expanding his music publishing business with new offices in Chicago and Hollywood.

Jack Meakin, music maestro on "The Great Gildersleeve" program, wrote a song several months ago, "Out California Way," which already has passed the 200,000 mark in sheet music sales.

$2,654 Collected In 1947 County March of Dimes Campaign

FINAL REPORTS ON DRIVE MADE BY COMMITTEE

Big Gain Over 1946 'Dimes'
Drive Shown Although
Goal Is Missed

Collections in the 1947 March of Dimes campaign in Circleville and Pickaway county totaled $2,654. It was announced Friday by Don Henkle, general chairman of the drive for cash with which to battle infantile paralysis.

Henkle asserted the campaign was an outstanding success. The amount collected showed a gain of more than 140 per cent over the total of $1,090 collected a year ago.

The goal in the 1947 drive, which was staged Jan. 15 to 30, was $5,000. While the result fell short of that figure the contributions far exceeded the 1946 total.

The 1947 total of $2,654, Henkle explained, consisted of theater donations $673, county schools $660, Circleville schools $409, mailed solicitations $750, and coin receptacles $162.

One-half of the money, Henkle said, will remain in an emergency fund to be used in Pickaway county for any police emergency which may develop. The other half will go to the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Henkle expressed thanks to theater managers, women's organizations, school superintendents, teachers, students, and to all who helped make the campaign a success.

Mrs. Harriett Henness was co-chairman in charge of volunteer campaigners in the county outside Circleville, and Ed Aney was the Circleville drive chairman.

Collections from Circleville's five public schools totaled $408.50 with the Corwin street school chalking up the best record with $150.56. Ashville school with $94.98 showed the best record among schools in the remainder of the county.

Following is the tabulation of March of Dimes collections of the 17 county and five Circleville schools, showing the 1947 figure for each, followed by the

FLAX SLATED TO BE WELL PAYING CROP IN 1947

Farmers of Pickaway county are likely to make more money on their 1947 crops if they shift some acreage from oats to flax, Chairman John G. Boggs of the Agricultural Conservation (AAA) committee said Friday.

Farmers are guaranteed at least $6 per bushel for their flax, Minneapolis basis.

"That $6 price support is about twice as much as the present parity price," said Boggs. The secretary of agriculture has pointed out that land adapted to flax production can be better used if planted to flax instead of oats.

He explained that the government is asking for 5,000,000 acres of flax, or twice as much as was grown last year.

New varieties of flax have been developed in recent years which make it a more dependable crop, the chairman said. Some of the new varieties won't rust at all, and others are rust-resistant. They also increase yields. And all of them are wilt-resistant.

George Westinghouse, inventor and engineer, devised the first effective means for stopping trains, the air brake he also pioneered in the development of railway signals and interlocking switches.

Partial Resumption of British Industry Seen

LONDON, Feb. 14—The British cabinet's emergency fuel committee reportedly decided tentatively today on a partial switch-on of electricity to industry as the arrival of coal-laden ships and trains eased the situation a bit.

It was understood the cabinet group made plans to restart industry with 50 per cent normal power consumption probably within a week if the weather improves.

The ban on domestic electricity consumption, however, is unlikely to be lifted for at least three weeks.

Sixty-three coal ships reached the Thames in the past 30 hours and unloaded 100,000 tons of fuel. Additional supplies arrived from the mine fields by train.

Despite the progress in overcoming the fuel shortage, the British railroads further slashed suburban and main line train services.

The emergency committee, meeting with Prime Minister Clement R. Attlee, also considered plans to cope with the aftermath of the crisis.

Informed observers believed that despite the turn of the tide, a drastic cut in gas supplies to

STRIKES STOP PARIS ACTIVITY

French Workers Walk Out To Protest Government's Wage Policy

PARIS, Feb. 14—A paralyzing blow was struck against France today by workers who abandoned their jobs to hold protest demonstrations demanding higher wages.

The strikes, believed largely inspired by Communists, were principally against Premier Paul Ramadier's "hold the line" policy on wages. The premier's first thought is to reduce prices instead of raising wages.

Protest meetings to be held throughout France this afternoon will demand wage increases in face of the government's insistence that prices cannot be held down if wages go up.

The stoppage will hold all Paris subways and buses for one hour and close government offices for one hour.

It will open the doors of all schools for a half holiday as teachers join in the protest.

Paris morning newspapers did not appear, with the exception of the Communist L'Humanité, (Continued on Page Two)

A-C Hurls Communist Charge

FARM MACHINE LOCAL ACCUSED OF BEING 'RED'

Allis-Chalmers Official Has Evidence To Prove Claim, Senate Group Told

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14—An official of the strike-fettered Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing company charged with documented evidence today that one of its local UAW-CIO unions is Communist-led and Communist-dominated.

The accusation was made before the senate labor committee by Harold W. Story, vice-president of the company, against local 248 UAW-CIO, at West Allis, Wis. The Allis-Chalmers plant at West Allis has been on strike since last Spring.

Story submitted a 2½-inch-thick brief containing photographic and written evidence in support of his charge that:

DeMille Gives Views

His testimony followed that of Cecil B. DeMille, Hollywood producer, who asked congress to give American workers a "second emancipation proclamation" by abolishing the closed shop.

DeMille was ruled off the radio because he refused to pay his union a $1 political assessment.

Story called on congress to develop a "legislative weed killer" to "nullify the destructive effects of communist union leaderships without harming the grass of sound unionism."

Leaders Sign Petition

His evidence included photocopies of nomination petitions for Sigmund G. Eisenscher, Communist candidate for governor of Wisconsin in 1946, which he pointed out were signed by:

"(1) Top-ranking officers of the union, (2) A majority of the staff of the union's strike publication, the Daily Picket, (3) all of the prominent members of the union's educational committee, and (4) about 40 per cent of the stewards of the union, presiding.

Story defined his meaning of "communistic leadership" as "not only leaderships composed of Communists, but also those

LANE'S RECALL IS NOT BREAK WITH POLAND

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14—Secretary of State Marshall said today that the recall of Arthur Bliss Lane, ambassador to Poland, "does not mean rupture of relations" with Poland.

But Marshall declined to comment to reporters on whether Lane will return to Warsaw.

The last official word on the subject was that Lane was returning home for "consultation" and to give a first-hand report on the conduct of the Jan. 19 Polish elections.

The elections were protested in advance by both United States and Britain as illegal and in violation of the Potsdam agreement whereby the Polish regime won diplomatic recognition from the western powers.

However, reports from Warsaw asserted that Lane, who will leave on Feb. 24, is being permanently recalled and will not return to his post.

65 FIRED FOR ATTENDING VALENTINE DAY PARTY

CLEVELAND, Feb. 14—The pipe machinery company of Cleveland today discharged 65 employees who took two hours off to attend a "Valentine day party."

The party, according to Earl Benninghoff, company vice-president and treasurer, was the mass picketing of the neighboring Cleveland Frog and Crossing company where a strike is in progress.

Conscience Wins; Admits Murders

BECAUSE TWO MURDERS were preying on his mind, Frank F. Hertle, 28-year-old former truck driver, voluntarily walked into Akron, O., police headquarters and gave Capt. John Struzenski (left) a recorded confession of slaying two women in Chicago in 1940. Chicago police said details of his story parallel circumstances in two of their most puzzling murder mysteries.

District Leaders Present Special Ceremony For New Scout Troop

ABOARD THE MOUNT OLYMPUS, Feb. 13—(Delayed) Investiture of a new Boy Scout Troop, No. 232, featured a monthly meeting of the Trinity Lutheran Brotherhood, Thursday night, in the parish house with Herbert Hammel, president, presiding.

Program for the troop investigation included: presentation of colors by Robert Norman, scoutmaster; invocation by the Rev. George Troutman; introduction of troop committee chairman, Fritz Sieverts; explanation of the meeting by Sieverts; introductory address by Richard Morris, district chairman; charging of troop committee by District Commissioner Harry Graef; presentation of charter by District Chairman Richard Morris; charging of scoutmaster by Commissioner Graef; tenderfoot scout investiture conducted by Scoutmaster Robert Dean and Troop 121; presentation of tenderfoot scout pins by Field Executive Gil Bolin; and showing of a movie film of scout camp.

Rear Adm. Richard H. Cruzen transferred to the icebreaker Burton Island, which immediately re-entered the ice pack for Little America, where, by herself, she will evacuate 197 men left behind there. She will begin the operations about March 1.

Geologist Dr. Arthur Howard, biologist Jack E. Perkins, two seamen, three news correspondents and two emperor penguins, "Butch" and "Babe" were transferred from the Northwind to the Mount Olympus, when the Merrick's sister ship, the transport Yancy is accompanying her.

The Mount Olympus steamed past huge icebergs to Scott Island, where she will await the arrival, in March, of the crowded Burton Island. The Olympus will serve as their weather station in the interim, and if weather permits, small boats will approach the jagged island.

A magnetic observation station there would be established there by Dr. H. Herbert Hower of Arlingon, Va. Explosives experts may blast steps up the 130-foot high island.

The weather still was preventing flights of air groups on Little America.

6,000 HARD COAL MINERS STRIKE, BACK 'SIT DOWN'

LANSFORD, PA., Feb. 14—Six thousand hard coal miners struck today in support of 13 fellow workers staging a sitdown strike 800 feet below the earth's surface at a Lansford colliery.

The sitdowners refused to leave the mine in a dispute over "docking" of their pay for quitting work early.

Officials of the Lehigh Coal and Navigation company, operators of the mine, said none of the miners reported to work this morning.

Meanwhile, deep in the mine, the determined 13 sitdowners sent up a communiqué declaring that "we're going to stick around a while."

Hearing of the new trial motion of Orin Diltz, 24, Route 2, Circleville, convicted of grand larceny, will be held at 10 a. m. Tuesday, it was announced Friday by Common Pleas Judge William D. Radcliff.

A jury on Feb. 5 found Diltz guilty of looting the parked automobile of Vaden Couch of personal property valued at $285.40.

The motion for new trial, filed Feb. 8, alleges that one of the seven women serving on the jury discussed the case with Deputy Sheriff Carl Radcliff prior to the three-day trial.

SURVEY SHOWS GOP IS SPLIT ON LILIENTHAL

Taft And Vandenberg May Clash Over Confirming Atomic Chairman

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14—An International News Service survey today showed the senate Republican majority split wide open on the issue of confirming David E. Lilienthal as the nation's atomic chief.

The survey indicated that Lilienthal's chances were in a dangerous spot.

As of today, he had a tentative margin of at least five votes, and possibly a dozen or so.

However, his margin still had to withstand the impact of mounting and determined opposition by a portion of the party's high command.

A colleague of Sen. Taft (R) Ohio, said he was "positive" that the powerful GOP policy committee chairman will throw his weight against Lilienthal in a public statement today or tomorrow.

Such a move by Taft might bring a showdown between him and Sen. Vandenberg (R) Mich., senate president, on which swings the greatest power among the Republican majority.

Both foes and friends of Lilienthal have been counting Vandenberg as a supporter of the appointment. Vandenberg, an atomic committee member, has been silent.

The INS survey, from interviews and preliminary polls by leaders in the fight, showed rank-and-file senate Republican sentiment evenly divided as Majority Leader White (R) Me., is.

Solon Urges U. S. Keep Atom Secret

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14—Sen. Elmer Thomas (D) Okla., declared today that "if we've got to have a showdown with Russia we should have it now," before the atomic bomb advantage is erased.

Thomas urged "keeping the atomic bomb a deep brown secret" as Secretary of State George C. Marshall was called before the senate foreign relations committee to outline his attitude on world affairs, including relations with the Soviet.

The Oklahoma Democrat asserted that the small nations of the world should want the United States to keep the A-bomb as their best protection against aggressors.

Thomas at the same time advocated a military figure such as Marshall or Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, Army chief of staff, as the party's presidential candidate if President Truman should withdraw.

The senator said he didn't care if they are the rankest Republicans." He added that there is no partisan issue—that the nation's major question is retaining its place in the world.

The secretary, an old hand at testifying before congressional committees, faced a generally friendly group but he was expected to run the entire gamut of world affairs.

Gurney told newsmen that his proposed cut would be $1,850,000,000 less than the six billion dollar cut already agreed to by a 20-man subcommittee of the legislative budget group.

Gurney told newsmen that his proposed cut envisaged restoration to the armed services of all but 400 million dollars in proposed spending reductions to the Army and Navy.

Gurney previously had proposed that cuts in the armed services should be limited to 200 million dollars each for the Army and Navy.

Earlier the committee voted 42 to 27 today to keep its sessions on cutting President Truman's budget closed to the press and public.

The motion to throw the meeting open was made by Sen. Barkley (D) Ky., minority leader of the senate.

Rep. Dirksen (R) Ill., countered with a proposal to table Barkley's suggestion, and Dirksen's motion was carried by the 42 to 27 vote.

Thus, the Democratic minority of the four committees comprising the joint congressional legislative budget group lost its first effort to reduce or delay the budget cut. Republicans hope to slash six billion dollars from the president's 37.5 billion dollar estimate.

Rep. Dingell (D) Mich., left the committee room immediately after the vote to make the committee's action known to newsmen.

Obviously angered by the action of the majority in keeping the committee room closed, Dingell told reporters "as far as I'm concerned you are going to learn of everything that goes on."

The budget committee was presented with a tentative draft of a resolution to be placed before the committee.

T A F T PREDICTS LOWER TAXES, NEW LABOR LAWS

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 14—Legislation to "restore equality" in labor relations was predicted today by U. S. Sen. Robert A. Taft.

Taft, addressing the Ohio Newspaper Association last night, advocated adoption of a bill similar to last session's Case bill with a number of modifications.

The senate labor and steering committees chairman hopes to report a bill by Mar. 15.

Taft also assured his listeners of:

1. A "substantial" income tax reduction "for everyone."

2. Determined congressional support of the United Nations "as the only hope for future peace."

3. Extension of sugar rationing for "eight to ten months" although he predicted the second war powers act would not be renewed when it expires Mar. 31.

"At the present time, all strikes have been settled at the various plants except the strike at the West Allis works, which was called by the communistic leadership of local 248."

Over 4,500 employees are working now at the one struck plant, the witness reported.

He charged that "Communist cells" have been established in the West Allis shop, that local 248 has promoted attendance at Communist schools, shown "Communist films at its meetings," reprinted material from Communist publications and that a "vast majority" of speakers at union meetings "have been Communists."

Closed Shop Powerful

DeMille told the senate labor committee that a closed shop union "is in a sense more powerful than government itself."

The veteran motion picture director-producer charged that the closed shop is monopolistic, undemocratic and a threat to constitutional rights. He said:

"Abolition of the closed shop will be pro-labor legislation—if by labor we mean the man who does the work. It will free him from a serfdom unparalleled in American history since the abolition of slavery."

FIELDS IS FINED $250 AND JAILED FOR CONTEMPT

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14—Benjamin F. Fields, Washington public relations counsel, today was fined $250 and sentenced to 90 days in jail for contempt of congress.

Federal Judge Alexander Holtzoff imposed the sentence, which grew out of Fields' refusal to answer questions before a congressional committee investigating surplus property disposal.

Fields, an ex-convict who boasts swank offices and reportedly "important" contacts in Washington, was asserted to have obtained a quantity of surplus copper wire through government "connections".

Defense attorneys announced they would appeal.

an indication of when the danger point can be considered passed even though stockpiles of coal at generating plants are now mounting.

While continued warnings were issued to the populace, the government relaxed its switch-off orders enough to permit food shops, dairies, drugstores and similar establishments to use electricity. The action was taken with the view that such places are vital to the every day needs of the community.

Several gas companies in their latest reports said coal supplies were dangerously low. Some are down to only four days' supply.

If gas cuts are put into effect the London area is expected to be particularly hard hit.

The gas restrictions would hit the working class severely, but officials indicated such action may have to be taken if the coal stock situation remains grave.

Generally it is believed the present stringent fuel restrictions must continue for weeks, possibly until the Summer months.

SUBPENAS FOR CLIFTON TRIAL JURORS ISSUED

Subpensas for tentative jurors for the burglary trial of George Clifton, 25, Route 2, Circleville, which is scheduled to begin at 9 a. m. next Wednesday in Pickaway county common pleas court, were issued Friday by Clerk of Courts Arthur L. Wilder.

Clifton is accused in an indictment of stealing $300 cash in a burglary of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, 217 North Court street, the night of Oct. 12, 1946.

The grand jury on Jan. 8 returned four indictments against Clifton, charging burglary and grand larceny. For the $300 burglary of the American Legion, 136 East Main street, which occurred the night of Nov. 9, 1946, Clifton was indicted jointly with Orin Diltz, 24, Route 2, Circleville. A total of five indictments were voted against Diltz.

COUNCIL SLATED TO OPEN STUDY OF ATOMIC PLAN

Russia Expected To Ask UN Group To Adopt Soviet Arms Formula

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Feb. 14—The United Nations security Council was to initiate deliberations today on international means of controlling and safeguarding atomic energy.

At the same time Andrei Gromyko, Russian delegate will ask the council to adopt the Soviet formula. This formula includes destruction and outlawing of all atom bombs as the first step and before any system of control or inspection is established.

Detailed presentation of the first report of the atomic energy commission to the council was to be made at a session at 3 p.m. today to launch consideration of the crucial question of establishing an international control agency to prevent the production of atomic weapons for war.

The report which is expected to produce another clash of opinion between Soviet Russia and the United States at the council table was introduced at Thursday's session when Canada, as a vitally concerned nation, was invited to participate in the ensuing discussion.

The 90-page report of the commission contains preliminary recommendations for establishing a world control agency which embody most of the basic principles of the Baruch plan advocated by the United States.

They emphasize the importance of first creating an agency endowed with extensive powers of investigation and force before relying solely upon an international treaty to destroy existing atomic weapons and prohibit their manufacture in the future.

Russia, advocating a treaty calling for immediate destruction of atomic weapon stockpiles, has, along with Poland, entered reservations concerning the commission report and is expected to argue strenuously for revision of the report's recommendations.

The Soviet and Polish spokesmen also are expected to attack the conception of the veto proposed by the commission. The report points out in its introductory paragraphs that the commission was unable to attain agreement on its recommendation that the right of veto on the security council concerning the control agency's work shall not be allowed.

MORE ICE-FREE LAKES MAY BE FOUND AT POLE

Discovery of 'Shangri-la' Opens Wide Possibility Geologist States

ABOARD MOUNT OLYMPUS IN ANTARCTIC, Feb. 13—(Delayed)—Discovery of a land of lakes in inland Antarctica opens the wide possibility that other and larger such areas may exist elsewhere on the south polar continent, Dr. Arthur Howard of the United States geological survey said today.

The geologist said the lake region—found this week in the Knox coast vicinity and dubbed "Shangri-La"—might owe its existence to an underlying mass of hot rock. He said the region might be somewhat like Yellowstone park, where heat for geysers and hot springs is believed to come from such a rock mass.

Official dispatches of the U. S. Navy's Antarctic expedition said that a mariner seen plane from the western task group landed Thursday local time—Wednesday Eastern Standard time—on one of the new found lakes and the crew took a sample of the water reported "definitely warmer" than elsewhere.

The crewmen, under Lt. Cmdr. David E. Bunker of Coronado, Cal., noted what seemed to be bearing rocks on the ground and a few birds overhead. Ice rimmed the region, but none was seen on the lake.

Howard said it was not especially significant that the Mariner crew saw no steam, because hot springs or fumaroles—steaming holes in the ground—might not be visible at that particular point or from high in the air. The lakes also might freeze over during the winter like the Yellowstone lakes or remain open the year around if the heat supply was sufficient.

He added that the south polar continent still was caught in the last phases of an ice age and that inspection of earth mounds reported in the ice-free area would show quickly whether the area once had been covered by ice or had remained uncovered during the ice age.

"The most interesting thing about the presence of this Shangri-La in the ice cap—small as it is—is that it opens up the possibility that there are other and possibly larger ice-free areas on the vast continent," he declared.

MURRAY KEEPS SILENT ABOUT UNION MERGER

Top CIO Leaders To Talk Over Plan To Join AFL In Biggest Union

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 14—President Philip Murray declined today to consider the proposed CIO-AFL merger into the world's largest labor federation until after next week's Washington powwow with his top advisers.

A spokesman for the labor chieftain said Murray was meeting with the CIO vice presidents in the nation's capital Monday and later with the CIO executive board to explore the advisability of consolidating the two labor bodies.

The spokesman pointed out that the Washington conference was merely exploratory, adding that a merger was very, very far in the offing. He added:

"The CIO is a vertical union—embodying the masses, while the AFL is a craft union. To merge the two at this time would create chaos and many CIO members would be without union support—that is, the AFL dominates the new setup."

Labor leaders, however, said the AFL has agreed, in the event of a consolidation, that none of the present CIO unions will be broken up for at least 20 years.

Both AFL and CIO officials have refrained from public expression but are unanimous in the off-the-record talks that an early merger was impossible.

Murray himself remained silent, but a source close to the CIO chieftain said the main stumbling block to blending the two unions was held by both AFL and CIO leaders to be the question of agreeing on a craft vs. industrial form of organization.

It is generally known that Dan Tobin, president of the AFL teamsters union, and Bill Hutchinson, of the carpenters union, bitterly oppose the merger. At present Tobin's teamsters are waging a jurisdictional fight with the CIO brewery workers in Pittsburgh. It has been in progress for 131 days.

Another sore spot in the proposed merger is the six-year-old feud between John L. Lewis of the United Mine Workers and Murray. CIO officials say that Murray is too familiar with Lewis' technique and before a merger is effected the CIO chieftain would demand some guarantee, in writing, to keep Lewis in line. This, they pointed out, would be almost impossible.

ASHVILLE

Annual meeting of the Ashville Community Club for the election of officers will be held in the Ashville Methodist Church Monday, February 24, beginning with a banquet to be served at 6:30 by women of the church. Among business to be transacted will be preliminary plans for the July Fourth celebration. All men of the community are invited to attend.

Miss Violet McDowell was a guest of Miss Mary Swoyer Wednesday evening. The occasion was Mary's 18th birthday anniversary.

Richard Hudson has been moved up from the JV squad to the Ohio State varsity basketball squad and will make the trip to East Lansing, Michigan where State will play the Michigan State Spartans Saturday.

Mrs. H. D. Fudge continues to improve at Mercy Hospital where she underwent surgery Saturday and expects to be removed home the first of next week.

The Rev. John Kilmer, former Ashville pastor, visited with friends in Ashville Thursday. The Rev. Mr. Kilmer is now on the White Cross Hospital staff.

A play, "The Black Flag" will be presented at the Ashville E. U. B. Church Sunday at 7:30 under the sponsorship of the Ohio Anti-Saloon League. Several local people are in the cast. The public is invited to attend.

Page and esquire ranks will be conferred at a special meeting of Palmetto Lodge next Wednesday, according to an announcement made by Chancellor Commander Emerson Cline. Light refreshments will be served.

Best local story lately involves Lloyd Smart, manager of the Pure Oil Station. A stranger to Mr. Smart told Lloyd that he was customer on a truck route and introduced himself, saying, "My name's Dunn." Lloyd replied, "My name's Smart." Which makes one ask, "What's in a name?"

JUNIORS STEAL SPOTLIGHT IN TOURNEY PLAY

Monroe Cops Grade Title; Perry And Monroe Win Senior Games Easily

Two grade school teams stole the show Thursday night at the second session of the Pickaway county basketball tournament in Roll and Bowl.

Monroe won the county junior high championship in what was billed as a preliminary to the senior tournament, but turned out to be the only exciting game of the evening.

A basket with seconds to go gave Monroe a 23-22 victory over Pickaway in a game that was close all the way.

In senior tournament games Atlanta walked over Walnut 52-22 and Monroe eliminated Washington 51-28.

Monroe took a 5-1 first period lead in the opener and was on top 11-6 at the half. In the third quarter Pickaway rallied to tie the score at 13-13.

As the last quarter started Crabtree gave Pickaway a 15-13 edge. Riley and Brigner sank fouls to tie the score again and Sanders gave Monroe a 17-15 margin at the halfway mark. Rhoads knotted the count but Sanders got another two-pointer. McAfee connected, then Rhoads put Pickaway ahead 22-19 with a basket and foul. Riley got a basket then Brigner came through with the game-winning two-pointer.

Riley had nine points for the winner and Rhoads nine for Pickaway.

Perry took a 5-0 lead over Walnut before Bob Pontius scored the first Walnut basket with five minutes of the first quarter gone. When the period ended Atlanta led 8-5. Pontius cut the margin to 8-7 as the second quarter started but by halftime Perry was on top 23-13.

In the third quarter Walnut got one point, a foul shot by John Brinker with 30 seconds left in the period, while Perry collected 16 to run the score to 39-14.

Joe Drake, high scorer in the league, collected 27 points to lead both teams. Joe Hobble scored 14 and Pontius got 12 for Walnut.

Monroe took a 15-1 first quarter lead on Washington and was on top 28-7 at the half. The third period score was 34-12. In the last quarter Washington rallied for 14 points but Monroe got 17.

Jack Hix had 16 and Kenneth Reid 15 for Monroe. Dick Seimer and Bob Fetheroff had seven points each for Washington.

Perry's victory makes the team the first opponent of seeded Saltcreek. They play at 7:30 p. m. Monday. Monroe will be Ashville's first opponent, the game to be played at 8:45 p. m. Monday.

Saturday night Jackson meets Deer Creek at 7:30 while Scioto gives New Holland its first tournament test at 8:45.

OSU ATHLETES TRAVEL AGAIN THIS WEEKEND

EDDIE COLLINS DEFENDS PAYING BIG SALARIES

BOSTON, Feb. 14—Ohio State's usual weekend sports schedule finds the Bucks waging warfare away from home in all save one sport.

The Buck wrestlers will attempt to break a two-match losing streak tomorrow afternoon when they tackle Purdue.

Ohio's varsity basketball team journeys to Michigan State. The Bucks still are seeking their first victory of the year away from home.

Collins said bluntly: "I'm sick and tired of hearing the bleats of Pennock, Griffith and Bredon that salary boosts threaten to shake the financial structure of the major leagues."

The Sox general manager then revealed that Williams "wrote his own ticket" when he signed his 1947 contract for a figure reported to be approximately $80,000. He said:

"If Bill Veeck of the Cleveland Indians wants to pay Bob Feller $100,000, that's his business. We are paying Williams what we think he is worth at the gate."

"He can write his own ticket on his contract and that is exactly what he did last week. We feel justified in paying Williams a big salary as Cleveland feels justified in paying Feller."

Coach Mike Peppe indicated today he might send his Bucks after 600, 750 and 900 yard relay marks in exhibition window dressing to the scholastic tourney.

The junior varsity, undefeated to date, has no game until Feb. 21 when it plays the Ohio University "Bees."

Larry Snyder's track team takes on Northwestern and Iowa in triangular competition at Chicago.

The swimming team is undecided. There's a central district high school swim meet in the Buck natatorium, however, and the varsity splashes may contribute some fireworks to that.

NEW HEAD, NEW HOME

THIS MAN George C. Marshall, one time general, now Secretary of State, is doing things. One of the startling items is moving the department out of its ornate neo-classic building next to the White House where it has been housed for 70 years. The huge, costly building has been ridiculed and vented in its day.

Secretary Marshall is moving his new effects and personnel to a massive limestone structure built in 1941 for the War Department at less than half the cost of the older one. When the secretary was Gen. Marshall and chief of staff, his office was briefly in this building until the army overflowed to the immense Pentagon. The new home of the State Department, because of its original purpose, has a warlike atmosphere with a large mural of guns, gas masks, bombs and the like guarding the entrance foyer.

There has been much hue and cry and nostalgic harking back to the old building on the part of many Washingtonians and some career foreign-service people. But a new Secretary of State has been appointed. Old organizations have to realize that new heads have new ideas. Possibly the new building with its bristling military air is symptomatic of a new policy of strength and firmness. Anyway, it's where Secretary Marshall wants the state department to be housed and he's the new boss. New wine needs new bottles and a fresh wind blowing through the State Department has been needed for some time.

CONFEDERATE DAUGHTER

WHEN ONE is old, and sometimes when one is young, it is "pleasanter to sit in a rocking chair in a sunny living room" than to go forth and fight for right. The other day a little lady who must be old—she is the widow of Confederate Gen. James H. Longstreet—left her rocking chair and her sunny living room, reluctantly, she admitted. She went to her state capital, Atlanta, Ga., to speak against the white supremacy bill. Already it had passed the House. But this effort to disfranchise Negroes was not yet a law.

"I come before you almost at the end of life's long trail, with words of hope and encouragement for the colored people," said this member of the Daughters of the Confederacy. She added that such a law would "establish a dictator at whose whim countless white men and women could be barred" from the polls.

The old lady hit on the nub of all discriminating legislation. Once the principle is admitted that restrictive measures can be taken against one class of people, other groups likewise can be legislated against. The Germans, who started out to penalize the Jews, found they themselves often became victims of the same distorted policies. There is no longer a place in the world for such a thing as freedom for the few. The old lady from Georgia knew it, and thought it important enough to take her out of her rocking chair.

We're always jibing about Congress, when it's probably more intelligent and patriotic than the rest of us.

ASSIGNMENT: AMERICA

By Kenneth L. Dixon

Distributed by International News Service

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14 — It's strange. The rest of the reporters all say I just fell asleep, right in the middle of the committee hearing. They say I couldn't possibly know who the congressmen questioned or what happened—that I was just dreaming.

But it all seems perfectly clear to me. Particularly that one witness. I remember exactly how he looked.

Tall, gaunt and tired-looking, he had been appointed for some government job. His beard was scraggly, and as he sat there in that old unpressed suit with that shawl around his shoulders, he looked out of place—ill at ease.

Sometimes he rested his elbows wearily on his bony knees during the questioning. He'd held a federal job before, and it seemed his patriotism was in doubt.

"Is it true, sir?" asked a senator softly, "that even at the age of 25, you made speeches against the constitution?"

The lines deepened in the long face, but the angular shoulders stiffened perceptibly. Finally, the homely, heavy lips parted in mumbled response.

"No, sir," he said slowly. "I didn't speak against the constitution. I only disagreed with those who said that certain states had a sacred right, under the constitution, to give property owners the power of life and death over human beings who worked for them."

"Yes, yes, I understand," the senator nodded briskly, "but the truth is that your point of view was contrary to the constitutional beliefs of most recognized authorities, was it not?"

The tall man's shoulders sagged, then straightened.

"Yes," he said, "but later—"

"We are not," interrupted the senator, interested in what happened later. Gentlemen, I believe it is clear that this political appointee was both arbitrary and revolutionary in his opposition to recognized constitutional opinions."

The witness started to speak, but another solon broke in.

"Just a minute, sir!" he said sternly. "Is it not true that at one time, when members of the United States government were disagreeing over a fundamental political issue, you said that a house divided against itself cannot stand?"

The gaunt man nodded slowly, sadly. The scarf slid forward.

"Gentlemen," said the second senator inexorably, "it seems perfectly clear that, simply because congress was not unanimous in supporting his personal political beliefs, this man felt free to criticize the democratic processes of our government and threaten its collapse! Such opinions, openly voiced by an important official, certainly would undermine our American democracy today!"

With a triumphant gesture, he took off his glasses and settled back in his chair. There was a moment's silence, while the tall man in the suit of ancient black peered in weary puzzlement at face after face around the committee.

Then the storm of damning questions broke:

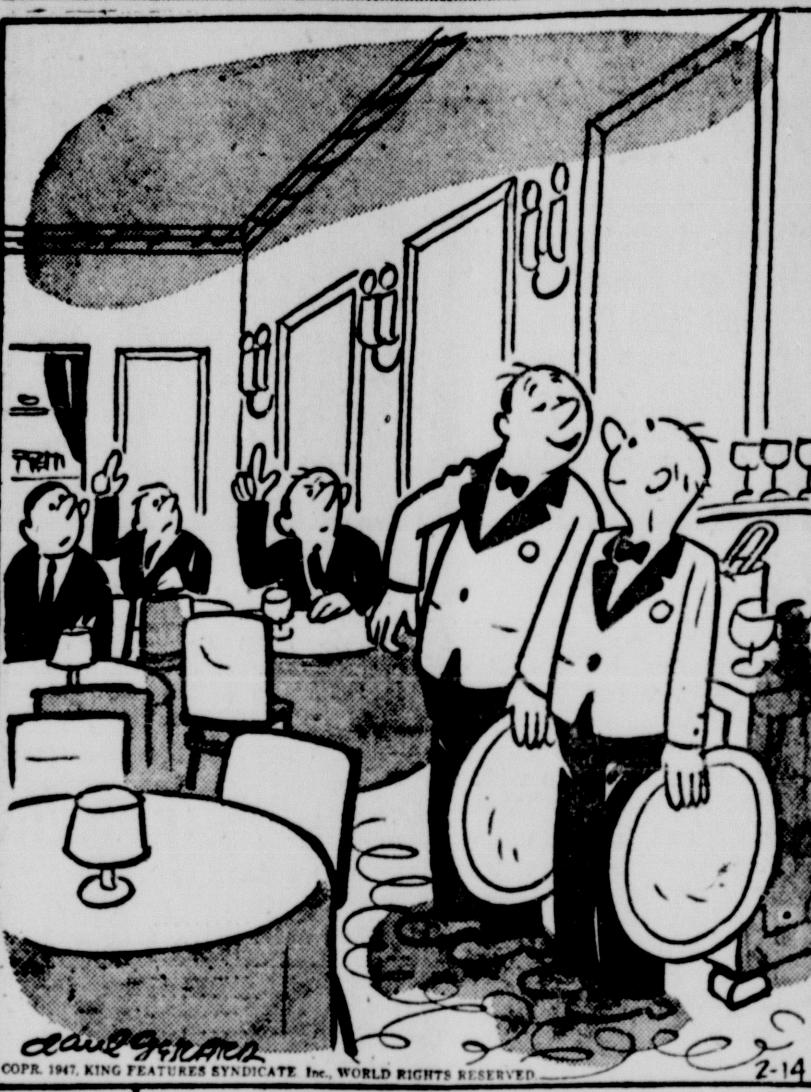

"When questioned about your political beliefs, did you not once stress that 'if you make a bad bargain, you should hug it all the tighter'?"

"Did you not once publicly express doubt, in a speech at Gettysburg, Pennsylvania, as to whether any democratic government such as ours could 'long endure'?"

"Did you not dictatorially order all slaves freed—long before it became a law—thus demonstrating your personal scorn for the democratic processes of American government?"

On and on went the barrage of accusations (Continued on Page Eight)

"The Authority on Authorities"

PLAY BACKS UP BIDDING

IF A PLAYER is going to "cut dildos" in the bidding in a strained effort to pull out some top scores in a duplicate tournament, he usually must be prepared to back it up with good work in the play. Sometimes just plain good work is not enough. Fancy work may be necessary, based partly on the kind of opponents against him at the time. If he knows one of them as a trickster who hates to do the orthodox thing if he can find something unusual to try, he must be a little that way himself.

North sprang the fancy opening lead on the diamond 9, and West put on his deep-thinking cap. That could hardly be a natural short-suit lead, he decided, since South who never made "short club" openings, had shown nine black cards. He decided therefore to play South for the diamond K, possibly singleton, so when that dropped the K, he got a total of five tricks in diamonds, four in hearts and one each in the black suits, for a large top score.

If he had finessed the diamond, he would have lost a trick there, three in spades and one in hearts and would not even have made his contract.

$2,654 Collected In 1947 County March of Dimes Campaign

FINAL REPORTS ON DRIVE MADE BY COMMITTEE

Big Gain Over 1946 'Dimes'
Drive Shown Although
Goal Is Missed

Collections in the 1947 March of Dimes campaign in Circleville and Pickaway county totaled $2,654 it was announced Friday by Don Henkle, general chairman of the drive for cash with which to battle infantile paralysis.

Henkle asserted the campaign was an outstanding success. The amount collected showed a gain of more than 140 per cent over the total of $1,090 collected a year ago.

The goal in the 1947 drive, which was staged Jan. 15 to 30, was $5,000. While the result fell short of that figure the contributions far exceeded the 1946 total.

The 1947 total of $2,654, Henkle explained, consisted of theater donations $673, county schools $660, Circleville schools $409, mailed solicitations $750, and coin receptacles $162.

One-half of the money, Henkle said, will remain in an emergency fund to be used in Pickaway county for any police emergency which may develop. The other half will go to the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Henkle expressed thanks to theater managers, women's organizations, school superintendents, teachers, students, and to all who helped make the campaign a success.

Mrs. Harriett Henness was co-chairman in charge of volunteer campaigners in the county outside Circleville, and Ed Amey was the Circleville drive chairman.

Collections from Circleville's five public schools totaled $408.50 with the Corwin street school chalking up the best record with $150.56. Ashville school with $94.98 showed the best record among schools in the remainder of the county.

Following is the tabulation of March of Dimes collections of 17 county and five Circleville schools, showing the 1947 figure for each, followed by the

FLAX SLATED TO BE WELL PAYING CROP IN 1947

Farmers of Pickaway county are likely to make more money on their 1947 crops if they shift some acreage from oats to flax, Chairman John G. Boggs of the Agricultural Conservation (AAA) committee said Friday.

Farmers are guaranteed at least $6 per bushel for their flax, Minneapolis basis.

"That $6 price support is about twice as much as the present parity price," said Boggs. The secretary of agriculture has pointed out that land adapted to flax production can be better used if planted to flax instead of oats.

He explained that the government is asking for 5,000,000 acres of flax, or twice as much as was grown last year.

New varieties of flax have been developed in recent years which make it a more dependable crop, the chairman said. Some of the new varieties won't rust at all, and others are rust-resistant. They also increase yields. And all of them are wilt-resistant.

George Westinghouse, inventor and engineer, devised the first effective means for stopping trains, the air brake he also pioneered in the development of railway signals and interlocking switches.

SECRETY LIFTED FROM FLYING MX BUILT IN 1942

HAWTHORNE, CAL., Feb. 14—The three-year-old secret of the Northrop MX-324, America's first military rocket plane, was out today.

The tiny flying wing, powered by an aerojet rocket motor, first was flown July 5, 1944 at Harper Dry Lake, Cal., to become the grandfather of today's rocket planes.

From the MX was developed the Northrop flying ram XP-79—just as the war ended.

Under construction is a third, greatly expanded version of the MX.

The MX with a wing span of less than 30 feet, first was designed in 1942 and was first flown as a glider.
